Closing out a great summer

50 PCA-CWI members brought 25 Porsches out for the end of summer cruise to Botham Vineyard and a picnic welcoming our new members. We all love driving Porsches but there's definitely also something to be said for sitting on the terrace of a rural vineyard sampling award-winning wines and enjoying a leisurely lunch. Thanks to Porsche enthusiast Peter Botham for hosting the event and providing a guided tour of the winery.

There's a lot to look forward to as we switch from summer to fall. The last autocross of the season is in the books but there are many opportunities coming up to join your fellow club members for driving and social events. As always, we're open to both new and existing members suggesting favorite drives, restaurants, and activities

Sadly, I think the clutch on my 924s is shot. I took it for a drive the other day and got a burnt rubber smell while shifting and several of the gears were very hard to get into so I turned it around and went home. I'll be looking into options for a replacement or upgrade over the next few weeks to hopefully get it back on the road before winter sets in.

MEET YOUR PCA CWI VOLUNTEERS

NEWSLETTER CHAIR: JOHN D'ANNA

The Porsches: 1987 924s – great for longer rides and scenic back roads. 2002 Carrera Cabrio – top down cruises and spirited driving.

Club goals: I've been enjoying helping introduce the new members and the stories behind their Porsches through the newsletter. In the future I'd like to help the club connect more with people in the region who live north of the Dells/Madison area.

What got you into Porsche: My dad had an early 912 that he bought in Germany and kept through several moves while serving in the army. Going for a ride in the Porsche was always a special experience.

PCA CWI WELCOMES BEAU SMITH

The Porsche: 2012 Panamera 4S. Eventually I'd like to buy a 911.

Club goals: My goal is meet more Porsche enthusiasts and go on some of the driving events the club holds.

Favorite drive: I'm still looking for great roads in the area for spirited driving.

LOCAL EVENT OVERVIEW - CARS AND COFFEE

Cars and Coffee started in southern California in the early 2000s and quickly grew into a worldwide phenomenon. In the Madison area, gearheads gather every Sunday, rain or shine, in the lot next to Barriques in Fitchburg, WI.

Any car you're passionate about is welcome. There's usually a solid contingent of Porsches along with classic muscle cars, tuner cars, restomods, exotics, and modern sports cars. The vibe is casual and welcoming — it's a great place to meet up with other enthusiasts.

The event runs every Sunday from 8-11AM. Barriques is great at dealing with crowds, but on busier days consider pre-ordering your drink or breakfast on their app.

The event organizers request that participants park in the lot on the side of Barriques to leave the spaces in front for other customers. Outside of that, typical car meet etiquette applies:

- One space per car
- Park in marked spaces only
- Look but don't touch
- No burnouts or excessive revving

If you're on Facebook, join the Cars and Coffee Madison page for photos and info.

NEW PCA-CWI CLUB SPONSOR: RENNKIT

The 996 was the first Porsche 911 Turbo to include an extending rear wing to provide negative lift (or downforce) to the back end of the car. Porsche sourced a hydraulic lift mechanism from an external supplier and the wings were installed beginning with the 2000 models.

In 2013 I purchased a pristine 2002 996 Turbo knowing that the wing did not go up and down. I wasn't worried, I convinced myself that it would be a simple fix for my engineering brain.

996 Turbo internet forums had plenty of advice on fixing the various issues with the hydraulic lifting mechanism. After hours of work, I figured out that the hydraulic plunger motor was broken. Success! Or so I thought...until a few months later when one of the hydraulic cylinders sprung a leak. Not only was the wing not working, the leak sent flammable power steering fluid into the engine compartment — a potential safety hazard.

DESIGNING AN ELECTRONIC WING MECHANISM

I wasn't up for another repair to the hydraulic system. The first fix was a messy, complex process and I knew there were multiple other potential failure points. Any repairs I did would not be permanent. What I needed was a system that did away with the hydraulics entirely. I started work on a simple, yet robust electric wing lift device that would be easy to install for the novice home mechanic.

997.1 Turbo with 119 mm eRam Kit™

One of the most challenging parts of the process was figuring out the electronic feedback to the car's dash cluster computer. The new device needed to work exactly the same as the hydraulic mechanism without triggering the dreaded "Failure Spoiler Control" warning.

The first prototype prevented the warning but was too large to be practical. The prototype evolved into a small, printed circuit board the size of a nickel.

My wife, Norah, and I came up with a product name, "eRam Kit™" for this device as well as our company name, Rennkit™. Renn is German for "race" — we completed our final real-world tests during several PCA HPDE events. The 4" eRam set on my Turbo enhanced rear downforce and actually improved my lap times.

GOING TO MARKET - WILL THE PORSCHE PURISTS APPROVE?

Back to the 996 Turbo internet forums. "996 TT rear spoiler problems - Help!" was one of the most popular posts - with more than 70,000 views. I wrote up a post titled "Beta Testers Needed for Electronic Spoiler Rams" and had close to two dozen 996 Turbo owners signed up almost immediately.

These beta testers proved that the eRam Kit was easy to install and functioned without issue. Nearly 8 years later all are still operational.

Word got around and I was soon asked to develop a similar system to replace the hydraulic wing mechanism for the 997 Turbo and the Carrera GT. Our first 997 Turbo eRam Kit™ customer claimed 200 MPH runs with his 3" eRam Kit™.

Today, there are eRam Kits in Porsches in over 40 countries. We have also shipped eRam Kits to Porsche dealers and developed a global Preferred Shop Network.

Recently we've added several specialty products for the water-cooled cars and have a few more new ideas in the hopper.

This is clearly a case where a 40+ year infatuation with all things Porsche morphed into a very rewarding business.

EVENT RECAP - GEORGE STAUFFER GARAGE TOUR

Before the July 20 club meeting PCA CWI members stopped by Stauffer Classics for a tour of George Stauffer's eclectic collection of performance cars. Highlights included classic British road cars, multiple Ford GT 40s, and one of the few original Sputnik models known to exist outside the former Soviet Union.

George is a founding member of PCA-CWI's official charity, Cars Curing Kids, which recently hosted a success Aviation and Autos event. We look forward to more work with Cars Curing Kids in the future.
